Monthly report as of 31 January 2025

Fund objective and strategy

The Fund's investment objective is to provide monthly cash income, downside mitigation, and attractive risk-adjusted returns across various market cycles through a diversified pool of global liquid and illiquid credit assets. The Fund aims to capitalize on market inefficiencies and relative value opportunities within the global credit landscape while maintaining a balanced portfolio across multiple industry sectors and geographic regions.

Monthly update

Fund

The Fund achieved a total net return of 1.09% for the month with 0.81% coming from interest. On a total return basis, direct lending assets outperformed syndicated loan positions by ca 20bps during the month, while the Healthcare, Information technology and Consumer Discretionary sectors collectively contributed 52bps to the total return.

The Underlying Fund declared a distribution of 0.0132 which is in line with the distribution target of RBA+4% per annum. The weighted average price of the underlying assets in the portfolio is 98.2, and the current portfolio yield is 10.0%.

In January, the fund continued to incorporate new direct credit positions into the portfolio. Notable examples include a US-based financial accounting platform, and a provider of school system fund management services based in Canada.

On the syndicated credit side, the fund participated in new primary transactions, including a global producer of composite resins based in the U.S., the world's largest provider of aircraft leasing and air cargo transportation services also based in the U.S., and the world's largest manufacturer of low-voltage lead-acid automotive batteries.

Market⁵

January kicked off with a surge of activity in the capital markets, predominantly centered around repricings. While new supply remained limited, ongoing inflows into the asset class continued to exacerbate the imbalance in supply and demand. Against this backdrop, US loans returned 0.68% and European loans 1.10%.
